Borrowing Privileges Statement of Responsibility

Borrowing privileges allow for the checkout of physical items from the Library's collection and from other libraries using the Library's Interlibrary Loan Service. Employees do not need borrowing privileges in order to access the library's subscribed electronic resources, such as databases and eBooks.

As indicated by my initials [     ] and signature below, I have read, understood, and agreed to the following terms and conditions of exercising my borrowing privileges at the Edward Neisser Library.

*I am financially responsible for all items borrowed from the Edward Neisser Library or from another library using Erikson's Interlibrary Loan Service during the item's loan period. The loan period begins at the time of checkout and ends at the time of check in. 'Checked in' means that the item is no longer on my account within the library management system. [     ]

*If an item is lost or damaged during the loan period, the Library – at its discretion – may accept an identical replacement copy or bill me for the replacement cost of the material. [     ]

*If I borrow an item from the Library and do not return it prior to 60 days after the due date AND the library has issued a final notice to me and the Chief Human Resources Officer, the replacement cost may be deducted from the my compensation. Replacement costs are non-refundable. [     ]

*All borrowed material must be returned to the library prior to conclusion of my employment at the Institute. If all materials are not returned prior to termination, the replacement cost of the material will be deducted from my final paycheck. [     ]

*Any unpaid bills that could not be deducted from my compensation may be sent to a Collections Agency. [     ]
